

THE BLAIRMORE TRIAL

VOL. XIII, NO. 40.

BLAIRMORE, ALBERTA, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1922.

$2.60 YEARLY

MEETING OF BOARD OF RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS

Blairmore was represented at the sitting of the Board of Railway Commissioners at Lethbridge last week by Mr. W. A. Henderson, who in conjunction with deputations from the various towns represented presented the appeal from the Crow line for the retention of the present day train service.

The result of the meeting will not be known until the forthcoming sitting of the Commission in Ottawa some two weeks hence.

The Canadian Pacific claimed that they were operating this train at a loss of forty dollars a day.

It was pointed out by the Pass. delegation that while such may be a fact, it did not present the situation in a true light regarding the traffic or the support given the railway from the immense district the Crow line served. Attention was also drawn to the fact that under the present system and disjointed connections the service was not what it might be and that the natural solution to a poor-paying proposition would be better service.

A strong appeal was made for the extension of the service of the day trains to Cranbrook on the west and Medicine Hat to the east, thus relieving the great congestion at present experienced on the morning and night through trains.

The memorial submitted emphasized the inconvenience of the through trains by reason of the late hours, the growing industrial importance of the prairies and mountain areas, mentioning the new pulp mill industry at Elkton, the lack of connection at both ends of the run, the hardship on industry and trade, and as an evidence of the need of two trains each way, the congested condition of the night trains. One witness pronounced them unsatisfactory at times.

BLAIRMORE—MICHEL AGAIN PLAY TO A DRAW

For the second time, Michel and Blairmore played to a draw, 1-1, on the local grounds on Saturday evening last and as a result will be obliged to meet on Saturday evening at Hillcrest on Saturday evening next.

The game of Saturday last was the finest exhibition ever witnessed here and both teams displayed the utmost of vitality.

The game on Saturday should draw out all football fans in the district.

The following comprised the local team and will again represent Blairmore on Saturday: Whitehead, McAndrew, McVey, Jackson, Day, Ford, Rhodes, Rudd, Wilson, Granger and Martin.

MEETING OF SHAREHOLDERS OF BLAIRMORE ARENA, LTD.

A general meeting of the shareholders of the Blairmore Arena, Limited, was held at the Cosmopolitan hotel on Tuesday evening with a good attendance.

A financial statement was submitted by the secretary-treasurer, and the election of officers followed. With but one or two exceptions, the 1921 executive were returned for another term. Mr. Raoul Green having resigned, that vacancy was filled by Mr. Morgan.

A general discussion took place and it was definitely decided to enlarge upon the activities of last season.

A tender submitted for the installation of a boiler and heating system was accepted.

The executive informed the meeting of their action in co-operating for the equipment of a general gymnasium. The action of the executive in this respect was fully approved.

REPORT OF PRELIMINARY TRIAL

The preliminary trial of Emilio Piccarillo and Mrs. Florence Lassandro opened in the opera house at 10 o'clock, and the largest gathering in the history of The Pass was present to witness the proceedings. The building was crowded to the doors and then only about half of the people were able to get in. Magistrate Gresham presided and the court opened at 10:10 when the accused, Piccarillo and Mrs. Lassandro arrived. They were jointly charged with the murder of Constable Stephen O. Lawson, of the A.P.P., at Coleman on the evening of September 21st, 1922. The prosecution witnesses were then asked to leave the court. Mr. Condon, of Blairmore, being the first witness called upon.

Blue print plans of a part of Coleman were produced and Condon was asked to identify them as those he made, which he did. He was also questioned as to certain buildings shown on the print, such as the A.P.P. barracks, hospital and other buildings. Crown Prosecutor McDonald conducted the examination. C. F. Harris, for the defense, also asked questions similar to those of Mr. McDonald.

O. Brindley, photographer of Coleman, was asked to identify photos he had taken, showing the hospital, A.P.P. detachment and other buildings. He testified that he had taken them. Mr. Harris also questioned him as to the buildings and the distance from same to where pictures were taken.

J. Houghton, chief of police of Coleman was then called. Questioned by Mr. McDonald, he made the following statement: He first saw Piccarillo on the 21st about four o'clock. He and Lawson were on the lookout for cars loaded with liquor. Constable Lawson having asked his aid. At the post office he saw McAlpine, Pick's mechanic, in the first car, Steve Piccarillo in the second car about 20 feet behind, and the accused in the last car about 20 or 30 yards behind. Steve, all going east. Lawson phoned Sgt. Scott that the cars were headed east and (Houghton) returned to his office. Later he went down to meet the train at 4:35 and as train was leaving he met Lawson running towards him, who stated that the cars were doubling back and asked him to help intercept them. Just as they got to the post office Lawson entered the car from the east. He went into the hotel to get Bell to drive his car after Steve, and while in there heard two shots fired. He then went back to the car and found the car to be empty. He returned they met the accused and Lawson got out of the car to talk to him. Heard Lawson say: "You had better go get your son, or I'll go and shoot him back." He next saw Piccarillo that evening, when he was standing near Mrs. Price's house. Piccarillo and Mrs. Lassandro passed in a car and turned up towards the barracks. He walked on and was in the front of Grand theatre when he heard three shots and saw Pick and Mrs. Lassandro pass in car headed east.

On going to the barracks he met Lawson lying between it and hospital, but saw no weapons near or on him. Lawson had on underclothing, breeches and boots. Helped to undress Lawson in hospital and saw the doctor remove a .38 caliber bullet from Lawson's left hip.

Cross examined by Mr. Harris, Houghton stated that one shot was fired at Steve during chase, presuming that he was the driver of the car. At this point Harris tried to find out for sure if one shot was all that was fired at Steve during the chase and the Crown Prosecutor told him that they would not stand for any witness being bullied. This brought applause from the audience and Mr. Harris protested, stating that he wanted the court cleared. Magistrate Gresham warned the audience that another show of feeling like that and he would have the court cleared. The examination went on. Houghton did not see Lawson point a gun at the accused when they met him on the return journey. He knew Piccarillo, but never had any trouble with him. Questioned as to his actions on the night of the shooting, Houghton claimed that he met the Lawson girl in front of Mr. Salvador's feed store. He was alone at the time. Piccarillo and Mrs. Lassandro passed under a light about 66 feet away and he saw them clearly. Woman had on a green coat. It was produced and he identified it as the one the accused wore. He had seen her several times before.

Crown Prosecutor, Mr. McGillivray, then asked if he could identify the car. They went out to see it and he claimed that it was apparently the car they drove that night.

Court then adjourned till 2 p.m., and Sgt. Scott, of the A.P.P., was called. He was examined by Mr. McGillivray. He stated that on the 21st he went to the Alberta Hotel to search for liquor. As he drove around the corner, Pick made for his car and gave a signal on the horn. There was no liquor in the car, so he drove around to rear of hotel to see if Steve's car was there. Just then Steve drove past, headed west and he made chase. The accused tried to cut in ahead of him but he took the ditch and got the road. When he stopped at the Gresham Hotel to let Constable Day phone Lawson, Piccarillo passed. Piccarillo kept him in the ditch to Coleman, when he dropped behind. He went on to Sentinel and met Lawson, Houghton and Bell. He then returned and Pick passed him again in Coleman, but stopped him on the road a few moments later, saying: "Well, you didn't get the load." He replied: "No, but charges of speeding and blocking the road will be laid against you." Pick replied that he "didn't care, he'd saved the load," and "Lucky for Lawson he didn't. Best my boy, I'd kill him." Sgt. Scott then replied: "You are crazy," and drove off.

He then saw the car heading west, but the accused was standing on the Alberta corner talking to Mr. Christophs and Mr. Rak. This was about 8:15. He then went to see Magistrate Gresham, asking him to hold the case over, as he had to go to Lethbridge that night. He next saw the accused in the cells, when he served the warrant for his arrest on a charge of murder. He said nothing to Pick, but Pick asked him: "Can anything be done to get Steve home from Michel?" and he replied that "Steve was alright and probably better off where he was." Pick then said: "They told me Steve was shot and I don't remember anything else." He and Constable Moriarty then went to arrest Mrs. Lassandro, whom they were informed by Chief of Police Carter, of Blairmore, was at Mrs. Gresham's. Moriarty, Moriarty at the door and said: "Lie down, I'm alive—that's all right." He then saw the accused and took her to his house at the barracks.

On searching her he found five loaded cartridges in her coat pocket, all .32 caliber. He then went to Gibson's to get the gun and found it had been moved from the table and put under a cushion on the sofa. It was a .38 caliber and had five loaded cartridges in it. (Both revolver and cartridges were produced as evidence.) At supper time that night she was very giddy, and laughed and talked. He told her to be serious. She then asked about Steve and the car and said that somebody had fired two shots at their house and told him that she had fired two shots and later told him that she fired all the shots. She claimed that Lawson and himself were the side of the car and hold Pick so he could not shoot. She hit him in the stomach and knocked him off the car. Referring to going to Coleman, she stated that they heard Steve was shot and Pick was going to Coleman to get the load." He replied: "No, but charges of speeding and blocking the road will be laid against you." Pick replied that he "didn't care, he'd saved the load," and "Lucky for Lawson he didn't. Best my boy, I'd kill him." Sgt. Scott then replied: "You are crazy," and drove off.

(Both revolver and cartridges were produced as evidence.) At supper time that night she was very giddy, and laughed and talked. He told her to be serious. She then asked about Steve and the car and said that somebody had fired two shots at their house and told him that she had fired two shots and later told him that she fired all the shots. She claimed that Lawson and himself were the side of the car and hold Pick so he could not shoot. She hit him in the stomach and knocked him off the car. Referring to going to Coleman, she stated that they heard Steve was shot and Pick was going to Coleman to get the load." He replied: "No, but charges of speeding and blocking the road will be laid against you." Pick replied that he "didn't care, he'd saved the load," and "Lucky for Lawson he didn't. Best my boy, I'd kill him." Sgt. Scott then replied: "You are crazy," and drove off.

He then saw the car heading west, but the accused was standing on the Alberta corner talking to Mr. Christophs and Mr. Rak. This was about 8:15. He then went to see Magistrate Gresham, asking him to hold the case over, as he had to go to Lethbridge that night. He next saw the accused in the cells, when he served the warrant for his arrest on a charge of murder. He said nothing to Pick, but Pick asked him: "Can anything be done to get Steve home from Michel?" and he replied that "Steve was alright and probably better off where he was." Pick then said: "They told me Steve was shot and I don't remember anything else." He and Constable Moriarty then went to arrest Mrs. Lassandro, whom they were informed by Chief of Police Carter, of Blairmore, was at Mrs. Gresham's. Moriarty, Moriarty at the door and said: "Lie down, I'm alive—that's all right." He then saw the accused and took her to his house at the barracks.

On searching her he found five loaded cartridges in her coat pocket, all .32 caliber. He then went to Gibson's to get the gun and found it had been moved from the table and put under a cushion on the sofa. It was a .38 caliber and had five loaded cartridges in it. (Both revolver and cartridges were produced as evidence.) At supper time that night she was very giddy, and laughed and talked. He told her to be serious. outdoor, with a magazine, a Savage shell beside it in a cabinet, a St. Smith & Verson in a drawer of table in the office and the service revolver in a drawer on the opposite side of the table. He also found one empty .22 shell in front of the detachment and wind-up glass opposite the detachment. He saw Pick on Wednesday night at the picture show in Blaimore and Pick told him at Constable Marjorison blocking the road near Cavis on stating to him that "No police could ever stop him."

Mr. Harris, for the defense, asked if he referred to stepping him on the road and Constable Day said he was present.

G. E. Menz, of Bellevue, was present and stated to Mr. McGillivray's guest only that he "met" McGilivray at Crows' Nest about 8:15 and Pick said "Steve has a mark on him he could kill every policeman in the Crows' Nest."

Mrs. S. O. Lawson, wife of the late Constable Lawson, was next called. She was very nervous and when she took the stand both prisoners broke down and cried. Her story was as follows when questioned by Mr. McDonald: She and Mr. Lawson and little girl were in the office about 7 o'clock. Mr. Lawson putting a hat in the axle. A car drove up and she saw it was the Sergeant, but upon looking again saw that it was a man and woman. She did not know Pick, but identified him in court as the man in the car. The car was close to the door and facing east. She went into the kitchen to wash her face and hearing a shot asked the little girl what she had knocked down. Before the girl replied, she heard two more shots and a scream. She told her daughter that the woman in the car did not want to go to jail and had screamed. Next she went to the door and saw the man in the car. She rushed to him, lifting his head in her arms and shouting, "Oh, dear, dear, what's been here. Her husband did not answer her. He was dressed in combinations, and riding breeches and was not armed."

She was again called upon to identify the man in the car, and she again pointed to Picciarello.

Corporal Gibson, A.P.F., was then called to identify Picciarello as the man Mrs. Lawson had pointed to.

Pearl Lawson, the nine-year-old daughter of Mrs. Lawson and the late Constable Lawson, was then called. She said that her father went up to Pick and put his arms around his neck. The girl fired the last shot, according to her story, and her daddy ran and fell between the barracks and hospital. She did not know who shot, but did not know who fired last.

Mr. Harris then cross examined the girl, but she stuck pretty well to her original story. She did not know who Picciarello was in the car but was told later that it was he who was there.

The little girl was very nervous at first and broke down during the evidence, but after that she was calm and clear.

Dr. Scott, who was called when Lawson was shot, was the next witness. He stated that he left the hospital at 7 o'clock, went to his office and examined a patient. A few moments later people came and told him a man was shot. He went over and found Lawson lying between the hospital and barracks. His heart was still beating. He helped carry Lawson into the hospital and removed his clothes, finding a bullet wound by the right shoulder blade, and located the bullet just under the skin of the left breast. He removed it and identified it as the one produced in court. The bullet had passed through the right shoulder blade, fourth rib, pierced the right lung, passed through the fourth vertebra piercing the upper part of left lung and entered one of the organs of the heart. Cross examined by the defense as to whether Lawson would fall as soon as shot, Dr. Scott stated that he could have at least taken one or two steps.

Court adjourned at five o'clock to be re-opened on Tuesday morning at ten.

Court re-opened about 10:10 on Tuesday morning, with a larger crowd present than the day previous. Interest was still keen and about two thirds of the Crown's witnesses were yet to give evidence.

Peggy Lawson, thirteen-year-old daughter of the late Constable and Mrs. Lawson, was the first witness of the morning and told of seeing Pick's car in Coleman on the 21st, although she did not know who he was. She first saw the car when she was in front of the Grand theatre, and with another girl went up to the post office where the car had stopped. She saw the man place something in the girl's lap and heard the girl say "Thank you." She did not know what the article was.

When examined by Mr. Harris for the defense, Peggy said that, some time after the afternoon of the 21st, in the afternoon, her father's gun was empty when he came home for supper, and she mentioned it to him. He said, "Yes, dear, I know it is." She saw him put it in the table drawer still empty. As it had been Mrs. Lawson's, she heard women on the street mention her name and saw her picture in the paper. Constable Day and Scott, who also showed her a picture of Mrs. Lawson and she had seen her on the train.

T. J. Brown, civil engineer, was next witness called and he testified as to seeing Pick and Constable Lawson on the 21st, about 5:10. He heard Picciarello say "If the constable has shot my boy I'll kill him tonight, by God." Pick also had a gun in his hand and kissed the gun after repeating the above sentence. Cross examined by Mr. Harris, a witness said he thought it very unusual for a man to have a gun on his person all the time.

E. H. Hays, of Blaimore, came up next. He knew both of the accused and had seen them in front of the Pains Cafe in Coleman on the evening of the 21st about 7 o'clock. He next saw them when they passed his truck which was standing in front of Michalsky's store. The truck was about 40 feet from the hydrant at the corner, Picciarello and Mrs. Lawson were in the car. The defense counsel asked Mr. Hays if he had made any statements concerning the shooting. He said no. Cross examined that two men whom he did not know had questioned him, but he did not know who they were.

J. Raabson, hardware clerk, of Coleman, next testified as to seeing Pick with a lady in the car in Coleman about 8:30, on the 21st. They were travelling at a moderate speed when he saw them in front of the Pains Cafe. The defense questioned him as to seeing car.

S. Marsden, clerk, of Coleman, testified that he was with the previous witness when the car passed the drug store. Pick and a lady were in the car.

Fred Cole, pumpman at the International, gave a more interesting evidence when questioned by the Crown Prosecutor. He was in the hospital to see his mother or the evening of the 21st, when a car drove up. He looked out and saw it stop in front of the barracks, but paid little attention. It was dark and he could not see the occupants of car. He next heard a couple of shots and ran to door but Mrs. Yates was standing in door way and this stopped him for a minute. He then heard two more shots and as he ran out of door, saw car back up and cut across vacant lot between police garage and trees, heading for the street. The car was identified as the one exhibited at the trial. He saw two boys on opposite side of the street. Next he went to where Lawson was lying between hospital and barracks and rolled him over. The nurse from the hospital also came out. Witness saw no weapons on or around Constable Lawson, who was "dressed in combinations, breeches, trousers and boots. He went for the doctor and on returning helped to carry Lawson into hospital. The defense did not examine witness.

James A. Cole, father of the previous witness was next called. His evidence was that he was working around his garage when he saw a McLaughlin car drive up to the barracks and the car exhibited evidence as to how many persons were in the car, as he had seen a woman in the car. He testified that he heard four shots and as he stepped out of his garage he saw car back up a few feet and cut across vacant lot, heading for the main street. He ran towards main street also, to try and see license number on car, but failed. He heard breaking glass as car was on vacant lot and found some windshield glass which he produced. He then returned to the barracks and helped pick up Lawson, but saw no weapons on or near him.

Defense drew out that witness did not see Lawson fall, but heard shots.

Miss Thorpe, nurse at the hospital, testified that she heard four shots about 7:10 and going to door saw a car leaving front of the police barracks pointing across towards police garage. She saw Lawson lying on the hospital. She could not see who was in the car. Mrs. Lawson and three of her children were in the car when she arrived and he was on his back. She waited there until Dr. Scott came, but did not see any weapons on or near Lawson.

The defense asked Miss Thorpe if anyone would have had time to remove a weapon before she arrived on the scene. She replied that there was not sufficient time for that to be done, nor did she see anybody do it.

Cross examined by the Crown Prosecutor, she stated that Mrs. Lawson could not possibly have removed any weapons.

Mrs. Frank Patterson brought out in her evidence that upon hearing four shots she looked out the window of her house and saw Lawson fall. She went over immediately and saw Lawson lying on ground between the hospital and barracks. His head was pointing towards the window of her house, which is right at the rear of barracks and hospital. In answer to the defense, she stated that she saw Dr. Scott and others around the body.

Frank Patterson, command of the previous witness, was then called and he stated that he was in his house when he heard first shot about 7 p.m. He immediately ran out and around to the front of the hospital and saw a car making for main road, heading east. The car was about 12 yards from it when he came up and Pick and Lawson were in it. He went over to see Lawson and saw Miss Thorpe and Fred Cole there. Lawson, to his knowledge, was unarmed and lying on his back dressed in combinations and breeches, with no hat nor coat. Questioned by the defense, he stated that he heard shots, but did not see them.

Mrs. Joseph Plante, when examined, stated that around 7 o'clock in the evening of the 21st, she heard a shot and upon going to the window of her house, saw a car in front of barracks, which had as if it contained two people, and one person standing beside it. She then heard three shots and saw three flashes which looked as if they came from the side of the car next to the barracks. A few minutes later she saw the person beside the car stagger and the car drove away across the vacant lots. The defense then questioned her and she stated that she did not see the car drive up, and was just going towards window when she heard first shot. She saw only two people in the car and did not know Picciarello. A policeman got her to go to the barracks on Thursday following, where two men questioned her. She talked only to Mrs. Shoad and her family of what she had seen, and said that her husband had also seen some of the shooting and gave evidence at the inquest.

Court then adjourned to 2 p.m., and Joseph Plante was called to the witness stand. His evidence showed that he saw a car in front of the barracks about 7.15 p.m. He heard one shot first, then another and then two more, and the car drove away, heading towards main street. He ran over to main street to see car and Pick was at the wheel, with a woman beside him. J. A. Cole was behind the car a ways and he did not know who was in it. Next he went to the barracks where Lawson was lying on the ground, but saw no weapons around. He also stated that he saw dash of first shot, but it was not fired from the side of the car but from the back. He could not state where the flash came from. He also heard Picciarello shout at boys to get out of the road when the car was on main street. The defense then asked if the car was going fast, to which witness replied that he was travelling at a good rate of speed when Pick left barracks. Defense also questioned him as to the distance he ran to get to main street and where the gate of his yard was, and also accused witness of having poor memory. He drew from him the fact that his wife had told him she saw Lawson fall and was at the window when the shots were fired.

Mrs. Joseph Emmerson, who lives just to the east of the barracks, testified that she saw a laughing car drive up to the barracks. It had the license on, and she saw the car on running board of car, folded arms on side of car, and talked to the occupants. She could not place the boys. She heard two shots and just then, seeing two boys running, thought they were firecrackers. The boys attracted her attention for a moment, and it was during that time she heard two more shots. Looking back to the car she saw Lawson step back, try to duck, but staggered and fell. While Lawson was falling, the car moved slowly away towards the police garage. She left immediately for the doctor. O'Brien testified that he saw one of the boys who fired the shots. The defense examined as to the probable age of the boys she saw running.

G. H. Shoad, of the College Hotel, also testified that he heard four shots, and saw a car at the barracks, facing east, which cut across the vacant lot to main street. He did not know who was in the car. He saw Lawson lying between hospital and barracks and he was dressed in combination of breeches, leggings and boots. He saw no weapons on near Lawson.

The next witness was Constable Moriarty, A.P.P. of Bellevue. He stated that on Friday afternoon he and Sergt. Scott went to the Glasgow home, having heard that the Lassandro woman was there. She met him at the door and as she came out he was afraid of her, and he said "I'm alive." They took her to Frank and she told him the woman was at Glasgow and they returned there and got it. The defense questioned witness as to whether he knew anything about the case.

Cornell G. L. Stevens, R.C.M.P., testified that he was one of a search party at the Alberta hotel after liquor, and he was stationed in the kitchen when he heard the shots.

When he heard a car drive up at the back. Rushing out to it he found one Mary Lawson. The car had the top window broken and a bullet hole near the top of lower one and a bullet hole in the dash. Its number was 1-740, and he identified it as the same one on exhibit. Questioned by defense, he stated that both he and Sergt. Scott searched the car. The next witness was Constable E. Clark, R.C.M.P., one of the police who captured Picciarello. He related that he and Constable Tutin, R.C.M.P., and Constable Bradner, A.P.P., were searching Italian house on the north side of the track at Blainmore. When they were over the foot of a hill by the brewery, they saw a man run from a shack up the hill. They took after him and when the man reached the top of the hill, he turned, and they saw it was Pick. Pick ran on down the hill and when they arrived at the top he was crouching down about 20 yards away. He and Constable Tutin reached him first, he taking hold of Pick's right wrist and Tutin doing the other. They searched him, but found no weapons. Pick said as they came up, "Don't be afraid, I won't shoot you gentlemen." Constable Bradner then came up after, searching Picciarello, arrested him. Pick complained of his leg hurting him so he, Clark, left to get a car. The defense asked him if that was all that took place and he said it was. He also stated that Constable Bradner did not give warning of arrest when he was present.

Constable E. Tutin, R.C.M.P., when called, told his story which was about the same as Clark's. After Clark arrested Bradner wanted Pick when arresting him. Pick then asked, "Is my son dead?" and both he and Bradner answered "No." He then said, "How a Lawson?" and they replied "Dead." Picciarello then stated that "A man named Bradner shot my son." The constables told him it was too bad he didn't was to see the boy and give Lawson a chance, but he said, "I have killed his son." They asked him about the woman, and Pick said she was at the car and that she had the gun. They asked him to the shack, but found no weapons. Defense wanted to know if it was all the conversation that took place and he said it was.

The third constable, Bradner, of the A.P.P., who figured in the case, was the tallest and had a good looking house. He was talking to an Italian woman about a shack near the brewery when he saw a car with a man and a woman and up a hill behind. He saw it was Pick, told the other constables, and they all took after him. The other police reached Pick first and when he came up he was wearing against a fence. He arrested him and he was taken to the station. He also repeated the conversation referred to by Constable Tutin. He testified that he was too bad Lawson did not have a chance to defend himself. Defense questioned no conversation that took place when Pick was arrested.

Roy Ash, a lad of 15 years, testified that he was in front of the hospital about 7 o'clock, and saw Lawson standing beside a car with his left foot on the running board. Did not know who was in the car, but he heard a shot and ran down to the Grand theatre corner. He claimed that five shots were fired. The defense questioned him as to the number of shots. Roy Oswald, who was with the Ashs, testified that he saw a big black car with yellow wheels in front of the barracks and Lawson had his arms folded, leaning on the car. Upon hearing two shots he ran with the other boy and later heard two more. Defense examined as to whether he heard five shots, but the boy stuck to it that he heard only four.

Frank Oswald, 15, turned out to be the boy who told Peggy Lawson who Picciarello was. He saw Pick and a girl in the car and told Peggy then in reference to afternoon shooting that Pick would not be caught, but Peggy claimed that "He might." W. Hilton, of the British Columbia Provincial Police, told of meeting Steve Picciarello in Fernie. It was about 6.30 in the evening and Steve was looking for a doctor to dress his hand. Steve told him his car was down in the garage and he went to see if it was loaded with booze.

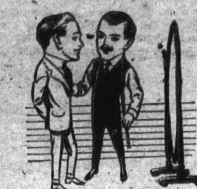

The next witness brought a complaint from the defense. This was Charles Lassandro, husband of the accused woman. The defense maintained that he would not stand for him giving evidence, and he was upheld by the Evidence Act, but allowed Lassandro to testify as to being the husband of the accused. Mrs. Lassandro broke down and cried when he took the stand and swore that they were married in Fernie in 1915.

Eddie Wood, a lad of about 12, was called and turned out to be one of the boys whom Picciarello hollered at to get out of the road as the car was leaving Coleman that night. There was a man and woman in it and they came from the direction of the barracks. He claimed that the man was Pick. Questioned by the defense, Eddie stated that he was in front of the post office at the afternoon and saw Lawson fire two shots at a car. Lawson was in front of the barracks.

This concluded the evidence produced by the prosecution, there being 33 persons, including Charles Lassandro, called to the witness stand. The defense produced no witnesses.

At the conclusion of the Woods' evidence, Magistrate Orphan committed the accused man and woman to stand trial at Macleod for the murder of Constable S. O. Lawson. The criminal assizes will be held some time this month, with Justice Walsh presiding.

The defense spoke on behalf of the prisoners, saying that they would not allow any evidence to be produced at the trial which was shown at the preliminary. The prosecution replied that there was only one more to be heard, Steve Dore, and they would infer defense of any import-any evidence obtained before the trial. The defense again spoke, saying that the accused would reserve the present defense.

Thus ended a preliminary trial of outstanding interest in The Pass. It consumed two full days and was attended by a large gathering of men, women and children from all over the district.

A Lesson From The Clock

A CLOCK that strikes is better than a non-striking clock. It tells us the time through our ears as well as through our eyes. It saves our steps. It signals, spurs us on, rouses us, speaks to us in the dark and from far away. It is useful far beyond the usefulness of the silent clock.

So with a business that advertises. A shop or store that sends out its message in the form of advertisements in our newspaper serves us far beyond the shop or store that is silent—that must be visited before its service or merchandise can be known.

The shop or store that advertises saves our time and money, etc. Speaks to us at the right time, rouses our attention, and stirs us to action. We buy more as the result of advertising, and we buy from advertisers.

OBITUARY

Stephen O. Lawson, son of Basil R. Lawson and Mary C. Lawson, was born at Brixton, Surrey, England on June 8th, 1880. He was educated at Archbishop Tennison's Grammar School, London. After leaving school, he made a trip around the world, visiting among other towns, Hamburg, Antwerp, Sidney, Melbourne and Fremantle, San Francisco, San Diego, returning around the Horn to Falmouth and Liverpool after a voyage of two years. Mr. Lawson remained at home a few months and finding the homeland dull after his journeyings, decided to come to Canada. He landed in this country in 1903 and commenced farming operations in the vicinity of Killarney, Manitoba. He came west in the spring of 1904 and ranches for three years in the neighborhood of Macleod. Mr. Lawson married Miss Maggie Rae Mackenzie on August 1st, 1908. He joined the Macleod City Police Force on May 7th, 1907, and a year later was made Chief of Police.

He obtained leave of absence in March, 1916, to enlist for overseas service in the Great War. He joined the 18th Canadian Mounted Rifles, and afterward in England transferred to the Fort Garry Horse, serving with such distinction as to have conferred upon him the Military Medal. After the finish of the Great War, about May, 1919, Mr. Lawson returned to Macleod, where he resumed his position as Chief of Police, holding office from June, 1919 to May 1920. Then, resigning from his official position at Macleod, he accepted the office of Chief of Police at Fernie, British Columbia, which position he held until March 12th, 1922. Mr. Lawson then enrolled in the ranks of the Alberta Provincial Police, being stationed at Coleman until he met his death by gunshot wounds received in discharge of duty on Thursday, September 21st, 1922. Mr. Lawson is mourned more intimately by his wife Maggie Rae Lawson; his five children—Peggy and Stephen, twins aged thirteen years, Tibby, aged twelve; Pearl, aged nine and Kathleen, aged six; his sister Mrs. F. C. Lever, of Teddington, England, and his brother, Basil R. Lawson, of Powell River, British Columbia. Also a host of friends who knew and appreciated his sterling character mourn his untimely death.

CHRISTMAS IN THE OLD COUNTRY—SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS

A visit to the Old Country is something that a great number of people are giving thought to at this season of the year, and many have already made plans to reach their friends in time for the Christmas and New Year Season.

Canadian Pacific Steamships are deservedly popular for this trip and to give extra special accommodation for those who are going overseas this season, the Canadian Pacific Railway has arranged for a special train to connect with the S.S. "Montcalm" sailing from St. John, Tuesday, December 12th. Through tourist sleepers will be operated from Edmonton at 10 p.m., Thursday, December 7th, and from Calgary at 1.35 a.m., Friday, December 8th, making connection with this special train leaving Winnipeg at 9.20 a.m., December 9th.

Special tourist sleepers from Calgary, Edmonton, via regular trains will also be operated in connection with the sailings from St. John of the S.S. "Montcalm" on December 1st, S.S. "Victorian", December 7th, S.S. "Melita", December 9th, and S.S. "Metagana" on December 10th.

All these tourist sleepers run right to the ship's side—no change, no inconvenience. They are the gang plank to the steamer. Oct. 5—3t.

Bar B Ranch.

September 4, 19—
Since making my last entry I have had two new experiences.

Number one: I forded the Banashe River.

Number two: I dined, chaperoned of course, in a bachelor establishment of the most bacchellish sort.

While we were having luncheon on Friday Mr. Bingham told us that he was going to the Paget ranch during the afternoon and that we, Mrs. Bingham, Sunny, and I, might go with him if we wished. You will notice that he did not ask us to go, but merely intimated that he would tolerate our company. But we went. Even so indifferent an invitation is not enough to discourage Mrs. Bingham in her search after something to break the monotony of ranch life. And I, too, am learning to separate Mr. Bingham's manner from his motive.

My only hesitation was due to a fear that Mr. Paget might not care to have us drop in on him unexpectedly, but Mrs. Bingham soon reassured me on this point. Mr. Paget had often asked us to return some of his numerous calls, but I find it very hard to become used to the informality of Canadian social life, and it seemed very strange to come down on him like a wolf on the fold. Of course we should stay for dinner after going such a distance, and suppose he did not want enough to go around? Even the best of housekeepers are sometimes embarrassed by unbidden guests, and I, mere man—words fall me to picture his probable confusion as my imagination pictured it!

Mr. Paget's ranch is on the west side of the river, and the crossing of the ford was an ordeal I must confess. I hope I am not a coward—but when the horses seemed to be making no headway against the stream, and the water splashed into the wagon box, it took all my courage to enable me to appear unconcerned. We crossed the river diagonally, and the rush of the water gave me an uneasy feeling, as if we were being carried down stream. Either because he was used to an exhibition of "nerves" on the part of women crossing the ford he did not seem to be surprised. He said that I was not speaking. Mr. Bingham stopped in midstream and turned around to his horse and said to me, "Don't watch the water, Miss Eliot; look at the horses' heads." At that point on the far bank, Mr. Bingham followed his advice, and found that it was good; the splashing sensation felt me—but not the fear of what would happen should we miss the ford. I was sincerely glad to feel the good old solid earth under my heels when we reached the shore.

Sunny and I heaved sighs of relief in concert as soon as we were out of the water. "I do wish Uncle Tom would build a bridge like they have in Winnipeg," said Sunny. I've asked him, and asked him, and asked him, but he never does. That nasty old ford makes me feel like when I'm dreadfully hungry, and when Mary took me down in the elevator at Eaton's I felt exactly the same way.

Sunny has her sensations more carefully classified than I. The three feelings are very much alike, but she mentioned it the likeness had not occurred to me.

As the crowd files it cannot be more than three or four miles from the Bar B to Paget Park. But it is ten miles by the road, which follows the winding of the river all the way, and it was after four o'clock when we reached our destination.

Mr. Paget, in white ducks, met us at the door and conducted Mrs. Bingham and me to the house. I suppose I should call it, and then went with Mr. Bingham to put up the horses.

The house is a good-sized one, but most of it is shut up. No one lives in it but Mr. Paget, and he has a servant, as different in appearance from our Lee as day is from night.

And the house gives ample evidence of how far he is behind Lee in skill and cleanliness. I wish Mr. Paget could see that dining-room! It was as dusty and untidy as a room could well be, the window-curtains were soiled and wrinkled, and papers and books were scattered everywhere—was that to empty our chairs before we sat down. The dining-table, which occupied the centre of the room, was still covered with the cloth from luncheon—from a good many luncheons, to judge of the stains. An old and exceedingly shabby couch, whose succession of hills and hollows reminded me of the road between Carbon City and the Bar B, was placed across one corner, and was adorned with a saddle and a pair of riding-boots. A broom and a dustpan were leaning against the wall behind the couch, to be well out of the way of temptation, I presume. And in the opposite corner was the piano, a very fine baby grand on which the most critical of housekeepers could not have discovered a speck of dust. The poor thing looked sadly out of its element! An upholstered armchair, evidently suffering from senile decay, was filled with mounds of all kinds—good, bad and indifferent—to suit the catholic taste of its owner.

"How nice is grandeur to our dust," quoted Mrs. Bingham, lightly, as I stood amazed. "Not quite what you expected, is it?" White muslin draped in emerald and blue ribbons would seem to be more appropriate for our Beau Brummel, would they not?

"It is simply dreadful!" I exclaimed. "What would his people at home say if they could see how he lives?" Mrs. Bingham shrugged her shoulders. "I've seen it much more than this. And when you've lived in Canada for a while, you will cease to wonder at the way in which a well-bred man will live when he has no women to look after him."

"But Mr. Paget has money, hasn't he?" Surely he could hire someone to keep the place presentable," I objected. Anyway, one can be reasonably clean without spending a great deal of time or money."

"So long as he has his tub and lots of clean clothes he is entitled to let Sing neglect everything else about the place," Mrs. Bingham replied. "That heathen Chinee wastes enough in the housekeeping to run a summer hotel, and still he never prepares a good meal. But he is an excellent 'wash woman,' so Mr. Paget will not let him go. If you ever want to hire a Chinese servant, Miss Eliot, choose as carefully as you would choose a husband."

At this point the men came back. Our host was apparently delighted to see us, and very insistent that we should stay to dinner. He was not at all put out by his surroundings, so I soon forgot them too. After chatting for five minutes, he took Mr. Bingham away to "the library"—what sort of a place, I wonder—and there they remained until Sing slouched in to lay the table for dinner.

Lee wears his pigtail in a neat coronet braid, but Sing's hangs down his back, and daps in a most laughable manner when he walks.

"Put a clean cloth on, Sing," ordered Mr. Paget.

"All right," replied Sing with a weak indifference.

"Where's the cream?" was the next suggestion.

"Clean all gone—cat drink it."

"Oh, by Jove, that's too bad! But there's no use crying over spilt cream, is there, Miss Eliot?" Open a tin of condensed milk, Sing. The tin-opener is in the carriage shed."

For dinner we had tinned tomato soup, not quite warm, delicious onion chops, tinned pork and beans, bread and butter, tinned plum pudding, tinned coffee with condensed milk and ginger ale.

Why can't the brick-throwing suffragettes realize that in Western Canada they would find an excellent outlet for their "energy"? I think seriously of writing to Lloyd George with the suggestion that he should confine the leaders of the militants in his asylums and ship the rank and file to Canada. Given a hundred and sixty and a man to look after, they would soon see the folly of brick-throwing—and the first thing they would do would be to hang on to their tails, wrapped in white tissue paper and tied with gold cord!

We started for home in the early evening, and so reached the Bar B before dark. The evenings are very much longer here than in England.

I am sorry that it was not dark as we drove home, for just as we left Paget Park I had a glimpse of the sunny side of ranch life. A small crowd of thoroughbred Durhams were standing near the stall, and Mr. Bingham stopped the horses so that we might admire them. Of course I had known for years that cattle were branded with hot iron, and since coming here I had found it very interesting to decipher the various brands on the horses and cattle and to speculate upon their former history. But until I saw the poor little calves in this herd I had never realized just what the branding meant to the cattle. Each calf carried on its side an ugly raw burn, bleeding in some cases, and sore-looking in all. And the flies—! cannot write about it, it is too shocking. I wonder if Mr. Livestock ever branded a calf?

Sunny and I raided the kitchen when we reached home. Lee had just taken a baking of bread out of the oven, so we had hot bread and butter, marmalade, and tea with "clean" in it. Lee looked on with interest. "Sing veltly like that heap had cook," he volunteered sympathetically.

Subway For Tokio

Transportation Made Difficult By Congestion Near Capital

Tokio soon will have an underground electric railroad similar to that of other world capitals if plans now under way reach fruition. Japan is experiencing a growing congestion of population in and near the capital which makes transportation a difficult matter. Her evolution from a strictly agricultural people to a nation largely industrial has brought her a large number of people into her cities, and the jam in Tokio is getting to be serious.

Painless and perfect in their action, Miller's Worm Powders are a safe and reliable remedy for children who show symptoms of worms. These symptoms are easily recognizable in a feverish restlessness, frequently ending in convulsions. A point of notable importance is that after Miller's Worm Powders have expelled the worms, the stomach and bowels are toned up to a very healthy condition.

Cure For Temper

A novel cure for temper was mentioned by Richard G. Loyell in a lecture in London on "Color as Applied to Personal Attraction." He said that civilization seemed to have dwarfed appreciation of color, and the ordinary woman was rarely found who had taken the trouble to cultivate color.

Mr. Loyell added that a test for color was to get into a temper and go into a room of various colors. In the red or green room temper would last, but in a blue or mauve room it would soon be lost.

Toronto Woman Gives
Credit to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto, Ontario.—"I suffered with irregular periods, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains, so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy, and I seemed to be smothering. I was a little over thirty for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of medicines and had been treated by physicians, but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends and if these facts will help some poor woman, use them as you please."—Miss J. P. Peart, 337 King St. W., West Toronto, Ontario.

Various forms of female weakness many times make work almost impossible. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped thousands of women over these troubles.

Captures Mountain Goat

New Addition Is Made to the Geological Collection at Calgary

Calgary is believed to be the only city on the American continent where additions to the civic zoo come right into town, and deliver themselves from time to time deer, lynx, coyotes and other denizens of the mountains, prairies and forests, including an American eagle, which was captured by a Calgary dog, have paid visits to the city and lost their freedom. The most recent addition to the zoo is a rare unbranded was a young mountain goat, one of the least approachable of wild animals which was captured in a local back yard, and is now installed at the zoo.

Worms in children, if they be not attended to, cause convulsions, and often death. Mother Gray's Worm Expeller will protect the children from these distressing affections.

The ordinary housefly is regarded to be the cleverest of insects, its intelligence surpassing that of the ant and the bee. An authority asserts that it can reach 100 times quicker than a man.

In Wonderfully Constructed

One of the most wonderful storehouses of treasured possessions is in London, England, and is known as the Chancery Lane Safe Deposit.

For a fee of from a guinea upwards anyone can store his or her belongings in the Deposit, which is so constructed and guarded that no burglar, however clever he may be, could ever hope to break into it.

The 10,000 safes which the Deposit contains are protected more elaborately even than the Crown Jewels or the bullion at the Bank of England. The basement of the building is divided into a series of strong-rooms, each of which holds 500 safes. No safe can be opened except in the presence of the depositor and an official of the Deposit.

The strong-rooms weigh 500 tons apiece, and their locks are set to open only at a given hour in the day.

Each strong-room is detached from its neighbors, so that an armed patrol can walk below, above and around it, mirrors reflecting every movement in the vicinity.

In addition to these precautions, the whole of the outer shell of the Deposit is specially reinforced with armor-plating. A pretty tough proposition!

Some of the safes contain incredible sums, running into millions. The diamond merchants of Hatton Garden nearly deposit millions of pounds' worth of precious gems in the course of a year.

Probably $125,000,000 is not too high an estimate of the value of the contents of the building at the present time.

Beauty spots in Western Canada are not only to be found in the Rocky Mountains and on the Pacific Coast, but here and there along the Canadian Pacific Right-of-Way. Flowers in a riot of color adorn the station grounds throughout the entire system, but those on Western Lines always evoke favorable comment from the thousands of tourists who travel through the Prairie Provinces and British Columbia. The Canadian Pacific has made a specialty of its flower gardens and now that particular branch of work has almost reached perfection. Over 150,000 packages of seeds and 1,000,000 bulbs are sent each Spring to stations from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Designing and work of these gardens is under the direction of G. A. B. ### Canada's Methods Are Sound

Speaking of the Canadian dollar returning to par, the New York Herald, after specifying various reasons for this consummation, thus concludes: "Canada is prosperous because her finances and her business conditions and methods are sound. This naturally greatly enhances whatever value there may be in its continuity to a well-to-do and friendly neighbor."

A Corrector of Pulmonary Troubles

Wireless and Weather

The most attractive theory at the North Pole is that of weather. In the Northern Hemisphere the birth of cyclones to a constant, struggle between cold polar air and warm currents coming up from the south. Professor V. Bjerknes, the Norwegian proponent of this view, has insisted on the need of a complete chain of stations round the globe. The stations are now in existence, and are being linked by "wireless." ### What Picnic Means

Word Originated From Custom Dating Back to 1802.

Most people know what it is to enjoy a picnic; not all can tell how the name of this form of entertainment originated. The explanation, according to one derivation, is simple. When a picnic was being arranged it was the custom for those who were to be present to promise to supply food and drink. A list of the things necessary was drawn up and passed round, each person picking out the articles he or she would supply. The name of the article was "picked" on the list—that is to say, a mark was placed against it. The popular entertainment thus came to be known as "pick and pick." The custom is said to date from 1802.

Preservation Of Fruit and Vegetables

Valuable Information for Housewife Contained in Government Bulletin

Farmers' wives, and, in fact, housewives generally, would probably find a deal of worthwhile information in Bulletin No. 92 of the Dominion Experimental Farms. It deals with the Preservation of Fruits and Vegetables for home use and gives the results, with the recipes, of experiments in canning, drying, pickling and preserving. It is carried on by the Horticultural Division of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Facts will be found there relative to sterilization for the prevention of spoilage, and sorting; for the methods best to be followed in canning and in jelly making; for the preservation of vegetables by fermentation and salting; for home drying; and as to the relative value of different varieties of fruits and vegetables when canned and preserved. The letters can be obtained at no cost by making application to the Publications Branch, Ottawa.

U.S. Tariff Will Prove To Be a Boomerang

Canada's Trade Will Be With Motherland Now, Instead of United States

Canada has paid very little attention to the new United States tariff, for the reason, as was pointed out by the Deputy Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, that the bill passed a year ago made the exportation of many of our Canadian products practically prohibitive, and that any additional duties levied could not have any further effect.

It was pointed out by the Deputy Minister that the United States has not the power to injure our wheat exports, as we have a ready market overseas. On the contrary, the immediate effect of the emergency bill passed a year ago, has been that Great Britain has taken the place of the U.S. as the best customer of Canada. We must look more than ever to the Motherland for a future market for our Canadian products.

Important Industry in Greece

Country Produces One-Sixth of World's Olive Oil Supply

In recent years Greece has become one of the most important olive oil producers in the world. Its production in 1921 was one-sixth that of all countries (final estimates placed the total world production of olive oil at 1,100,000 metric tons), about one-third that of Spain and Italy combined, and a little more than 35,000 metric tons larger than that of Tunis, Portugal and France put together.

One of the best known guides in Nova Scotia gives this testimonial of MINARD'S LINIMENT:

"I have used Minard's Liniment in my home, hunting and lumber camps for years, and consider it the best, while hunting on the market. I find that it gives quick relief to minor ailments, such as sprains, bruises, and all kinds of wounds. Also it is a great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., which one is liable to catch when log driving and cruising during the winter and spring months. I would not be without MINARD'S LINIMENT and cannot recommend it too highly." (Signed) Elton Gray.

Ignition of Coal Dust

Coal Dust Suspended in the Air Can Be Exploded By Electric Arcs

The extensive use of pulverized coal for fuel in industrial plants gives interest to tests recently made by the United States Bureau of Mines, which proved that coal dust suspended in the air can be exploded by electric arcs under conditions that might prevail in a pulverized coal plant, or in a coal mine. It was found that in a coal mine, where there is a large quantity of dust, which is in places where coal dust is apt to collect in quantities capable of producing a dust cloud, such electrical machinery should be housed in compartments designed especially for use in dusty atmosphere. — Engineering (London).

New Fruit Commissioner

Geo. E. McIntosh—Promoted to New Position

Mr. Geo. McIntosh, who has for the past five years occupied the position of Transportation Specialist of the Fruit Branch of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, has been promoted to the position of Fruit Commissioner. He succeeds Mr. C. W. Baxter, who recently left the department to assume the management of the Niagara Fruit Growers' Limited.

The Fruit Branch fills an important position not only in the fruit growing industry but it is also concerned with the trade in vegetables. Its primary function was the administration of the Fruit Marks Act, under which all fruit intended for export trade was inspected to see that it carried brands that corresponded with the character and uniformity of the fruit throughout the package. Reporting on the fruit crop conditions has also been a duty of this branch. For many years it has issued for five summer months—June to October—a printed monthly fruit report. During the past eight years it has also issued a telegraphed market report twice a week during the period of heavy movement, and once a week thereafter.

A further development of the work of this branch has been in relation to transportation, which for fruit is a matter of utmost importance. Since the organization of the Transportation Division some five years ago, an intimate relationship between the fruit and vegetable producers and the transportation companies has been developed. In the capacity of Transportation Specialist, Mr. McIntosh has been constantly on the move from coast to coast endeavoring to bring about closer and closer co-operation between the producers, dealers and carriers. Educational and experimental undertakings have been carried through. Tariff and traffic regulations intended to promote the general welfare of the fruit and vegetable industries have been amended. This has been carried on by conference with railway, express and steamship officials, who have responded readily to the reasonable recommendations made. Major trains carrying fruit and vegetables have been dealt with through the Board of Railway Commissioners, which have resulted in great satisfaction to the fruit growing and vegetable growing industries.

Following experimental shipments of loose fruit, alterations in the interior construction of refrigerators have been brought about. The change has been of such a character as to ensure the better condition on delivery of fruit moved to long distance markets. Before entering upon this work Mr. McIntosh was engaged by the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association to investigate marketing conditions and transportation facilities for the province of Ontario. Mr. McIntosh's experience in these various capacities have amply prepared him for his present more responsible office.

Had Splendid View Of Sun's Eclipse

Astronomers Highly Pleased at Success of Photographic Plate

The astronomers had a splendid view of the solar eclipse from Woolton, near Bristol, Australia, according to a despatch to the London Times from Perth. The sky was cloudless, and the observations were most successful. The United States expedition at Woolton, headed by Prof. W. M. Campbell, Director of Lick Observatory, saw a corona 40,000 miles wide, from which four long streamers of light shot forth, one extending 2,500,000 miles from the sun's centre, says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Melbourne. The duration of the totality of the eclipse was four seconds shorter, and began fifteen seconds later than had been predicted. The United States astronomers are said to be highly pleased at the success of the photographic plate, taken with the purpose of verifying Einstein's theory of relativity, namely, the bending path of a ray of light in its passage through the sun's gravitational field.

COUNCILLOR MORENCY REPLIES

Blairmore, Alberta, October 4th, 1933. To the Ratepayers and Citizens of the Town of Blairmore.

Ladies and Gentlemen: In the last issue of the local paper there was an item in the report of the local council meeting held on Monday, September 25th of some councillor taking contracts with the town, according to the auditor's report.

I was the one referred to in this report, and I wish to draw attention to the fact that I have taken contracts with the Town of Blairmore and will admit that I have done wrong, but these contracts have not come to me directly, and I was absolutely innocent until the fact was brought to my notice by the auditor. I was really not aware that I was doing anything contrary to my oath of office as an alderman. It appears that I am only one of several who have been criticized in some respect, but as an alderman, representing practically three-fourths of the ratepayers, I would draw your attention to the fact that up until this year this rule has not been enforced, and it appears that a whole lot of it originates through personal grievances, which I am willing to stand by as a real honest representative of yours.

It may be that the present kick is being made because I have secured a contract with the West Canadian Collieries Co. for extension of water service through a portion of West Blairmore. If so, it must be remembered that I am not dealing with the town, although eventually this line will revert as the property of the town and be a most valuable asset.

One more remark I would like to make is that I would like to see a more sociable and co-operative spirit maintained between the West Canadian Collieries and their new townsite and the original or main town of Blairmore.

Signed, Yours, ALEX. MORENCY, Alderman.
